

#CultureLAB International

2023/2024

for young protagonists
in culture and theatre

#CultureLAB International

Are you interested in playing theatre, arts, organizing cultural events and exchanging with other young theatre lovers? Maybe you are already active in a youth club or cultural center organizing events or you have ideas for own theatre formats or cultural offers which you want to realize?

We invite you to the cultural laboratory #CultureLAB to meet young people from Ghana and Germany. Together you will design a programme for a youth branch, which can be implemented e.g. at a cultural centre.

In the #CultureLAB cultural experts will share their knowledge about programme planning, financing and marketing with you. Based on these talks you will discuss with the other participants which topics you would like to deal with and which events you would like to offer in a cultural centre. With the support of experienced drama teachers you will develop a performance to summarize and express your experiences artistically.

Via virtual meetings and in two personal encounters you will experiment with theatrical and event formats and get to know the cultural scene in Ghana and Germany. You will learn about programme planning, marketing and the organization of a cultural centre.

The sustainable development goal „quality education“ provides the thematic framework of the project.

The project is organized by Theatre for Social Change (Ghana) and BAG Spiel & Theater (Germany). The project partners have already cooperated for many years and realized several international encounters, youth theatre festivals and other projects together.
